

NEW YORK CITY - New York - United States of America - BASWA acoustic accepts Architizer A+ Jury Award at New York City Gala

NEW YORK – BASWA acoustic CEO, Eric Sulzer and BASWA acoustic North America General Manager, Edwin Sellers Jr., on behalf of everyone at BASWA acoustic, accepted the prestigious Architizer A+ Award. The award accents the very best in international architecture, design, and innovation. The award gala was held at the famous Highline Stages in downtown Manhattan Thursday night. BASWA acoustic won the coveted Jury Award for ‘Ceiling Finishes’ in a hotly contested category with BASWA cool.

As a finalist, BASWA was up against 4 other companies, all with values over one billion dollars, making BASWA AG the smallest qualified finalist. The total number of company entrants for the competition was over 2,000. In the end, it was a select jury of 300 of the world’s top designers, architects, celebrities, and playmakers that selected BASWA acoustic to receive the award.

The award was celebrated with other winners in a grand fashion: with champagne, red carpets, and speeches. The event was covered by CNN, The New York Times, Al Jazeera, among others. The event in partnership with NYCxDesign Week was able to display the Award Winners on the NASDAQ billboard in Times Square, NYC the day following the show.

The award highlights the positive momentum BASWA acoustic has been producing for the last years. Architectural acoustics is a consistently expanding market as designers, owners, and architects explore the concepts of acoustical comfort. BASWA is a company on the cutting edge of seamless acoustical design and with this award it shows they will remain there.

EDWIN SELLERS JR.

Eric Sulzer, CEO BASWA acoustic, and Edwin Sellers jr., General Manager of BASWA North America.